Trattoria is a treat

RESTAURATEUR Tony Reitano, right, treats his restaurant like his children — with love, affection and discipline. The award-winning owner of the Trattoria Sorrentina, Sheepcote Road, Harrow, has received yet further recognition of the service his customers receive.

For the second time in the last eight years Tony has been awarded the Excellence in Hygiene Award by Harrow Council, which recognises the operation of sound food safety management.

"I'm very proud," said Tony. "I never worry when the inspectors come round — even when they turn up with magnifying glasses looking for germs." Mr Reitano, owner of the restaurant for 23 years, has in the past received the Heartbeat award, for healthy food, and a nomination for the best Italian restaurant in the Carlton London Restaurant Awards.
